This summer you are going to live and study here.

ENG 498/598: Reading England's Literary Landscapes
From June 4 - July 9, 2017 students earn six credits while living and studying at Harlaxton Manor, one of England’s most beautiful stately homes.

Harlaxton Manor is one of the most extraordinary residences in England. Join us there for five weeks this summer, making Harlaxton your home base while reading classics of British literature and exploring the places that make these works come alive. We’ll visit London, the Lake District, the northern seacoast, the moors, castles, cathedrals, and many other stunning locales. We’ll visit Harry Potter Studios and swim in the North Sea. And if you want to venture further, Harlaxton can become your gateway to Europe.

contact
Christopher Hanlon
Associate Professor
christopher.hanlon@asu.edu
Travel the world with New College

Meeting for lecture and discussion in drawing rooms, galleries, and walled gardens, students and faculty will study the intersections of landscape and literature by reading a range of major English writers and visiting the places that inspired them. Weekly excursions to locations such as the Lake District, London, Yorkshire, Lincoln Cathedral, and the northern coast will allow students to consider the ways that literature responds to nature, participates in the construction of picturesque experience, and channels sensations of geographical grandeur.

program details

June 4-July 9, 2017

Location
Only an hour from London by train, Harlaxton provides easy access to Heathrow and Gatwick Airports for weekend travel to Europe.

Academic Visits to Lake District
Shakespeare's Globe Theatre
Lincoln Cathedral
North Yorkshire Moors National Park
Dracula's Whitby
St. Paul's Cathedral
The National Gallery
Harry Potter Studios

Earn 6 credits of ENG 498/598

Study English landscape through the works of Shakespeare
Malory
Tennyson
Brontë
Stoker

Wordsworth
Coleridge
Z. Smith
Ishiguro

Financial Aid is available
For information on scholarships and financial aid contact the ASU Office of Study Abroad (480-965-5965).

Apply today!
studyabroad.asu.edu/?go=Harlaxton
Course will be limited to 22 students
newcollege.asu.edu
This course satisfies ASU general studies requirement (L)