Global Cities: Living the Renaissance in Rome

will expand global awareness through intensive study of Rome’s history, political system, economy, geography, architecture, arts and culture before traveling there during Winter break 2015. During our 10 day visit in Rome, students build on what they have learned in class by exploring the city and experiencing its culture first hand.

Fall 2015
IAS 294 Global Cities: Living the Renaissance in Rome

Class # 90313, 3 credits
Dr. Marsha Fazio

In-Class Dates - Session B
10/14/15 - 12/4/15,
Wed, 10:30am-12:10pm

Travel Dates - Winter Break
12/10/15 - 12/21/15

Apply online by going to the Interdisciplinary Global Learning and Engagement (IGLE) website at: https://newcollege.asu.edu/study-abroad-igle or by contacting Lucy Berchini at lucy.berchini@asu.edu.
Cost of the trip is $2,700. All application materials and a deposit of $1,000 are due by Sept. 11, 2015. The final payment is due by Oct. 9, 2015. Funding may be available!

Global Cities: Living the Renaissance in Rome will expand global awareness through intensive study of Rome’s history, political system, economy, geography, architecture, arts and culture before traveling there during Winter break 2015. During our 10 day visit in Rome, students build on what they have learned in class by exploring the city and experiencing its culture first hand.