Welcome to Arizona State University’s Master of Arts program in Social Justice and Human Rights (Online).

The online master's in social justice and human rights (SJHR) addresses key issues, theories, methods, and applied practices related to immigration and refugees/asylum seekers, gender-based violence and sex trafficking, international law and organizations, humanitarianism, global justice, and more.

The SJHR graduate degree program provides students with a combination of applied real-world skills and training in theory and method. Each student is encouraged to identify the specific issues that will bring focus to their studies, for example, in humanitarian intervention, education, disability rights, indigenous rights, refugee or immigrant rights, racial justice, or the abolition of gender violence and sex trafficking. They may also direct their focus to regional contexts such as the Middle East, Central Europe, Africa, Central America, or even the United States.

The coursework in this theoretically and methodologically rigorous program examines social justice and human rights issues in contexts defined by multiple and intersecting forms of social identity and disadvantage, including gender, race, ethnicity, class, sexuality and nationality. All courses are required and include skill-building core theory and method courses (Proseminar; Problem-Based Seminar; Research Methods; Action Research; and Grant Writing), and thematic courses emphasizing key issues and contexts (International Law and Organizations; Migration, Asylum and Refugees; Gender Violence and Sex Trafficking; Critical Humanitarianism; and Global Justice).

Each core and thematic course contains a capstone element where students may bring their unique focus and interests to bear on course content. Some capstone elements may accommodate limited-scale original research and analysis. The capstone elements together provide coherence and synergy across coursework and form the basis of the final professional e-Portfolio and video overview, in which students showcase their graduate-level skills and knowledge. Students may also opt to include in the e-Portfolio items from elective courses and/or internships.

Admissions

Admission to the online MA Social Justice and Human Rights program is offered for the Fall Semester – Session A (August), Spring Semester – Session A (January), and Summer Semester – Session A (May).

You can visit the program website for more information related to application and admission requirements.

Application Deadlines

For information related to application and admission deadlines, please review this chart.

Tuition Costs and Financial Aid

Tuition is set by ASU and the Arizona Board of Regents every year. The most up to date tuition and fees are available by clicking here. You can use the interactive calculator on the site to determine information regarding your cost of attendance.

The Social Justice and Human Rights Online program requires students to follow an established course sequence year-round. This sequence divides each semester into two sessions, A and B, with a requirement of taking one course in each session. During the last semester, students will take one course in each session as well as a Capstone course.

Financial aid may be available for the summer. Please contact the Financial Services office to discuss eligibility and requirements.

Capstone Course

Course Overview

This course constitutes the required culminating experience of the Master of Arts Program in Social Justice and Human Rights. In this class, each student will complete a capstone compendium defined by their specific interests. The compendium will consist of capstone element assignments from constituent coursework, revised and framed by a narrative essay engaging graduate-level theory, method and/or analysis in Social Justice and Human Rights, assembled as a single body of work, in a professional e-Portfolio format and accompanied by a shareable video overview. The capstone e-Portfolio showcases students’ individual foci and the knowledge and skills developed through coursework that aim to enhance, expand, advocate, or disseminate practices of social justice and/or human rights locally, globally, or transnationally. Students may also choose to include additional supplemental items based on work completed in electives and/or internships/study abroad. Final products will be completed in consultation with and review by the capstone faculty instructor. In addition, the capstone course enables students to receive peer input from a fellow student who will make suggestions for fine-tuning one’s capstone elements, ePortfolio, and video overview.

Course Structure

This 3-credit course allows students to demonstrate their individual interests and expertise in relationship to the knowledge and skills acquired throughout the SJHR graduate degree program. During the capstone semester, students will draw together, revise, and frame the capstone elements assignments completed in constituent coursework, and articulate in a narrative essay the relationship of these elements to one another and to the student’s overall areas of interest. The compendium provides the basis for each student to produce an original e-Portfolio that showcases their expertise and engagement with graduate level social justice and human rights theories, themes, concepts, issues, and practices. Each student also produces a shareable video summary of the e-Portfolio. Each week students are required to complete all assignments, discussion board posts, and responses to classmates’ discussion board posts. Students work in pairs throughout the semester, and with the capstone instructor, to provide peer review and support. Importantly, the capstone e-Portfolio is not simply a collection of previously completed work, but a re-envisioning and reworking of the elements of graduate study into a single overall whole, individualized by each student in relationship to their interests and goals.

Program of Study

The Interactive Plan of Study (iPOS) functions as an agreement between the student, the academic unit and the Graduate College. To facilitate program completion and shorten time to complete the program, graduate students are encouraged to complete their iPOS in their first semester.

Submitting your iPOS should take about 15-20 minutes. The ASU Graduate College has provided a list of how-to videos and resources located here.
When filing the iPOS please:

- Refer to published course sequences based on admit term.
- List Dr. Tricia Redeker-Hepner as faculty Chair.
- No updates to staff advisor are needed.

After you submit your iPOS a staff advisor will review your course sequence and ensure all degree requirements are listed. Approval by the academic unit typically happens within 3-5 business days and the ASU Graduate College will provide final approval within another 2-3 business days. An iPOS can be modified after it is submitted and approved.

Advising and Student Success

We have dedicated Graduate Academic Advisors who are available to answer questions and to help you achieve your academic goals.

We have established an advising website that provides information about course offerings, policies, and additional resources for online students. To access this website please click here.

If you have questions after reviewing this handbook, the ASU Graduate College Policies and Procedures, and the advising website, please reach out to our team at ncgradonline@asu.edu.

Course Selection & Registration

The MA Social Justice and Human Rights program is a cohort-based program. Students are required to follow an established course sequence year-round. This sequence divides each semester into two sessions, A and B, with a requirement of taking one course in each session. During the last semester, students will take one course in each session as well as a Capstone course.

There is a required course sequence available on the advising website.

Each semester you will register for classes electronically via MyASU. You can view the schedule of classes online here. To find out when classes are available and when you must register please visit the ASU Academic Calendar.

University Resources

There are a number of resources available in the program and through the university.

ASU Graduate College Policies

Being a part of ASU means that all students, regardless of program, are held to the same high standards of academic integrity and excellence. It is important that all students familiarize themselves with these policies; these policies are outlined at the following website: https://graduate.asu.edu/current-students/policies-forms-and-deadlines.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy

All graduate students are expected to make systematic progress toward completion of their degree. Students are responsible for verifying and tracking satisfactory progress policies as required by their degree program and the Graduate College. If a student fails to satisfy the requirements, the student may be dismissed from his/her program based on the academic unit’s recommendation to the Graduate College. These policies are detailed on the university’s Graduate College’s website: https://graduate.asu.edu/current-students/policies-forms-and-deadlines.

The MA Social Justice and Human Rights Program also follows the New College of Interdisciplinary Arts & Sciences Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy. The current policy can be found at: https://newcollege.asu.edu/sites/default/files/advising/documents/nc-satisfactoryacademicprogresspolicy_fall_2019_0.pdf

Student Code of Conduct

All students are expected to adhere to the Arizona Board of Regents Student Code of Conduct and university policies and procedures: https://eoss.asu.edu/dos/srr/codeofconduct

Students are expected to regularly check their ASU email accounts for messages from the university and New College. Students also are expected to regularly check their MyASU priority tasks for messages and holds from the university. Students are responsible for managing their tuition payments, finances and tracking university academic calendar deadlines.

Academic Integrity

New College and the MA Social Justice and Human Rights program has a zero-tolerance policy toward academic dishonesty that is enforced within every course and educational activity offered or sanctioned by the school. Any allegation of academic dishonesty will be referred to the school’s Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities for review and recommendation to the Dean of the school. If any student is found to have engaged in academic dishonesty in any form – including but not limited to cheating, plagiarizing and fabricating – that student shall receive a grade of XE for the class and will be dismissed from the school. There will be no exceptions. Please refer to the University’s Academic Integrity Policy for the full policy.

International students who violate academic integrity policies may be dismissed immediately. Being withdrawn from a degree program can have immediate consequences regarding visa status, and dismissed students are required to leave the country immediately per immigration and visa rules.

At the beginning of every MA Social Justice and Human Rights class, each student will be given a copy of the full academic integrity policy, along with accompanying information on plagiarism in their course syllabus. More detailed guidance on how to avoid plagiarism and fabrication, can be found at: https://ori.hhs.gov/avoiding-plagiarism-self-plagiarism-and-other-questionable-writing-practices-guide-ethical-writing

Professional Ethics

In addition to academic integrity commitments, students in the MA Social Justice and Human Rights program must abide by the highest levels of ethics. This includes following the core principles of the APA Code of Ethics, including conducting research ethically and independently, privacy and confidentiality, and record keeping.

MyASU Portal

On your MyASU portal you will find information about your courses, transcripts, transportation, student success and support, finances, university policies and the academic calendar. Please take time to familiarize yourself with these areas:

Profile: Update your address, phone number, email information, or add guests, such as a parent, so they can look FERPA-protected information including grades.

My Classes: Click on the name of each course to access the corresponding Blackboard content. This is where you will see the syllabus, find links to readings and submit assignments. Take a few minutes to familiarize yourself with the structure of each course.

Final Transcript: If you sent in a transcript for admission to the program before you graduated, send your final transcript with your degree posted.

Academic Integrity Module: ASU Graduate College module reviewing academic integrity expectations. Please complete as soon as possible. Please note, this module explains the university-wide policy. The New College academic integrity policy includes additions specific to our students. Please be familiar with both policies.

Academic Calendar (bottom right box): This has important dates you need to monitor, including when classes begin, last day to register or drop/add classes, tuition and fee payment deadlines, holidays, withdrawal deadlines, schedule of classes available and when to enroll.

Campus Services: This includes Health and Wellness Resources, such as health insurance, counseling, disability services; Transportation, such as parking permits, METRO Light Rail, U-Pass and campus shuttles; Student Success and Support, such as disability services, tutoring and student success centers; and Job & Career Services. Please note these job resources are university-wide and not specific to the MA in Social Justice and Human Rights program.
Funding for Travel and Research

Some online students may have the opportunity to present research at national and international academic conferences. Additionally, you may be able to apply funds towards travel expenses for doctoral program interviews. As with the other funding requests, the Program Director must approve this request. Please email Dr. Tricia Redeker-Hepner at Tricia.M.Redeker-Hepner@asu.edu for approval.
